Special Free Offer of Veteran Benefit Booklets

The Kingston Daily Freeman is pleased to offer its readers, without charge, a copy of the booklet, "Veteran Benefits," an up-to-date summary of all benefits available to veterans of World Wars I and II, and their dependents and beneficiaries.

This booklet is being made available through the cooperation of the Veterans of Foreign Wars as a feature of its Golden Jubilee celebration this year. It is an authentic, 24-page summary of those benefits currently available to able-bodied veterans, and those which are available in later years upon the death or illness of the veteran.

Disabled veterans will find this booklet filled with information regarding disability compensation and pensions, government hospitalization, automobiles for amputees and vocational training. Beneficiaries of veterans will find of interest the provisions for pensions and burial benefits. Those benefits for which most non-disabled veterans are eligible include education and training, G.I. Bill loans, readjustment allowances, etc.

Any reader wishing a copy of this free booklet is invited to write to Veteran Benefits, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Broadway, 34th street, Kansas City 2, Mo. Your name and address on a penny postal card will suffice to obtain your copy.

SEEN HIM?—William S. Hixson, Jr., 21, has been missing from his Pulaski, Va., home since last March, when he went to Charleston, W. Va., to look for a job. His wife Iura last heard from him in April from Paducah, Ky. She is now destitute with no means of supporting their 17-month-old boy and a premature baby born May 14. Hixson is five feet, six inches tall, has black hair and brown eyes and is of medium build. The FBI is assisting in the search.

HOME BUREAU

Exhibits of unit accomplishments of the Ulster County Home Bureau will be displayed at the annual Achievement Day meeting in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church starting 10:30 a. m. Thursday, it was announced today.

Miss Adelaide Baris, former home demonstration agent in Nassau county, will address the members in the morning. Mrs. William Powers, county chairman of the Ulster County Home Bureau, will preside.

In the afternoon, following the lunch prepared by the ladies of the church, the "Home Bureau Frolic" directed by Mrs. Howard Lewis and made up of skits taken from the Ulster County Home Bureau History recently written by Mrs. Eliza Keates Young of Milton, will be presented.

Mrs. Edith Hardenbergh, of Stone Ridge, charter member of the Home Bureau, will tell of its early beginning. Mrs. William Warren, president of the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau and 4-H Club Association, will describe the activities of her mother, Mrs. A. E. P. Searing, who was instrumental in organizing the Home Bureau originally.

The units that are participating in the dramatization are Lake Katrine, Highland, Milton, Kingston, Hurley, Modena, Plattekill, New Paltz, Ellenville, Lomontville, Centerville and the E.K.A. Study Club.

Average age of farmhouses in the United States is about 50 years, but three-fourths of those in New England are 60 years old.

Wilson Asks Divorce

Los Angeles, June 1 (AP)—John Wilson, Jack Benny's radio announcer, has filed suit for divorce from his third wife on a charge of cruelty. The complaint, filed yesterday, claims his wife's conduct has been detrimental to his health and work. She is the former Marusia Radunska, Polish beauty. The couple married in Harrison, N. Y., December 17, 1942, and separated last Monday. Wilson formerly was married to Mrs. Lucy Jane Wilson, and to Peggy Ann Kent.

Allergies Are Cause

French Lick Springs, Ind., June 1 (AP)—Allergies probably are the underlying cause of rheumatic fever, rheumatoid arthritis and some kindred diseases, Dr. William B. Dublin of Indianapolis General Hospital said today. Dr.

Dublin was a speaker listed for the first annual meeting of the American Academy of Neurology, starting today.

Cohen Heads School

Albany, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—A. Alfred Cohen was appointed today

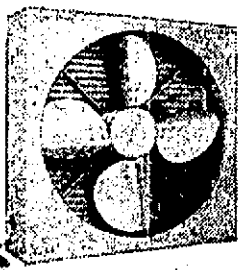

as superintendent of the State training school for boys at Warwick, Orange County. Cohen, 40, was named to the $8,800-a-year post by Henry Root Stern, chairman of the State Social Welfare Board. He had been acting superintendent since 1948.

LOBBIES
The House wants Congress to investigate lobbies. It has approved a resolution to that effect, and if the Senate concurs a joint investigating committee will go to work.

What is a lobby? According to the dictionary a lobby comprises the persons who frequent the approaches to the legislative chambers, for the purpose of influencing members of the law-making body. Congress has a law requiring lobbyists to register; it defines a lobbyist as a person who lobbies for hire. President Truman, who suggested the lobby investigation, said perhaps in jest that anyone trying to influence Congress in favor of the presidential program is not a lobbyist, since that person is working in the public interest. It might be inferred from this that the President defines a lobbyist as someone trying to influence Congress against the public interest, whatever that is.

The general idea is that a lobby is something bad. But it is not considered bad for a citizen to write to his congressman and senators to express his views, nor is it bad for that citizen to drop into their offices when he is in Washington. It is not considered bad for a member of Congress to try to influence other members. It is not considered bad for the President to recommend legislation. Why does it become bad for a citizen who cannot spend the necessary time in Washington to hire someone to represent his interests in the congressional corridors?

Any investigation of lobbies ought to include an inquiry into the question of whether there are good lobbies and bad lobbies, and if so how to tell them apart. Here is a problem for Solomon.

WORKING AND TALKING

High government officials talk too much and listen too little, says James K. Vardaman, member of the Federal Reserve Board. Breaking a self-imposed political silence of two years, Mr. Vardaman made this declaration during a recent speech in Kansas City before the Missouri Bankers' Association.

"We non-elective office-holders outside the cabinet should quit trying to tell the people what we think they need, and what we think they should do, and how we think they should run their business," said Mr. Vardaman. He advocated listening to the voice of the people rather than to the sound of one's own voice. The opinion of this official is that only elected officers are privileged to interpret the wishes of the populace, while those holding appointive positions should quietly carry out orders.

More action and less talk might be fruitful of good result in other situations besides those of government officials. There always are people who will talk at the drop of a hat. The silent ones are over-shadowed by their articulate brethren who are never at a loss for words. Both kinds have their place. The silent people get most of the work done, while the talkative ones are likely to shape the policy which directs the work. Maybe Mr. Vardaman is right, and policy might be better if some of the makers of it would talk less and listen more.

POET OF ALL TRADES

The interesting career of Archibald MacLeish has taken a new turn. He has become a professor of English literature at Harvard University, succeeding the gifted poet Theodore Spencer, who died suddenly not long ago. In his new post MacLeish's duty will be to instill in the undergraduates a love of good literature, particularly of poetry. If anyone can do that, he can.

MacLeish's career has been highly varied. He enlisted as a private in the First World War, coming out with the rank of captain. He then turned to his major love, poetry, which he gives as his profession in "Who's Who in America." During the war he was librarian of Congress, director of the Office of War Information, and assistant secretary of state. He helped to create UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, and was its first chairman. Such a varied history proves that Mac-

THE JAPANESE QUESTION

When Comrade Vishinsky, who bowed like an old-fashioned diplomat according to reports, raised the issue of putting Japan on the agenda of the four powers, he was not fooling. It was a wise move from the Russian standpoint and logical from the state of events. It is probably the most important business that was raised in Paris.

The reason is that the Russians have outflanked us in Japan. Their military movements in China, their conquest of so much of that country, the treacherous stupidity of the State Department policy in China, their failure to grasp that derelict nations must today either lean on the Russians or on us and that if we move ourselves, they will be forced to embrace the Russians—all that give Vishinsky his reason and his opportunity. With all his politeness and his handshakes, Vishinsky was full of sardonic fun. He was laughing up his sleeve.

There must be no mistaking what it would mean if we withdrew our troops from either Germany or Japan. It would mean that sooner or later those derelict countries would fall into the hands of the Russians. It is true that western Germany has been restored surprisingly and probably could, in time, become the savior of Europe as a competent industrial nation. As for Japan, it can become a powerful nation under our tutelage; it might even become the savior of the east of Asia. Without us, Japan and Korea must go as Manchuria, Mongolia and North China have gone. Maybe that is what the smart boys in the State Department have always wanted: maybe that is what they planned when they won General George Marshall's orders on his tour in China—a tour that might have ended successfully, instead of in failure, had he not so rigidly adhered to those instructions.

Obviously at this state, the Asiatic question—I use Asiatic instead of China for greater accuracy—is no longer in the field of diplomacy. It is no longer limited to the countries on the other side of the Pacific. It is strictly a matter of the national defense of the United States. It is strictly a matter of military planning and activity.

Suppose General Chiang Kai-shek does establish a base in Formosa, out of which he deploys guerrillas in South China to scorch the earth, to burn cities, to develop mass resistance; it will not be sufficient to keep the Russians out of Burma, Malaya, Indonesia, French Indo-China and eventually India. If, on the other hand, the forces of the United States under General MacArthur in Japan combine with the efforts of Chiang Kai-shek as a rebel against Russian aggression, a sufficient power can be developed to contain the Russians in Manchuria and North China down to Shanghai.

When Vishinsky in Paris raised the question of Japan, he was, in reality, hitting at this problem. When he speaks of a peace treaty with Japan, he really refers to the withdrawal of MacArthur from Japan. This means that Chiang Kai-shek would be permanently deserted and that the Philippines would, in the end, be forced into the Soviet orbit. When a man has this in mind, he can afford to be as surprisingly polite as the reports say he was at the opening session in Paris.

There is only one solution to this problem and that is to send a military mission to Asia to determine our course. General Albert C. Wedemeyer would be suitable to head such a mission or, if he cannot be spared, such brilliant military men as General Mark Clark or General Walter Bedell Smith could undertake the task. General Wedemeyer would be particularly suitable because he is extraordinarily gifted in dealing with Chinese, is trusted by them more than any American general who has been in China, and he does really understand the problems of Asia in relation to our national defense. It could save us years of anxiety, thousands of lives and billions of treasure, if we think of Asia in terms of our national defense. And curiously, for the first time in many years, this country has a secretary of defense, Louis Johnson, who knows Asia too.

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.

SKIN DISEASES

One of the common jokes of many years' standing among medical students is that they intend to be skin specialists as skin patients never die, never get well, the disease comes on from time to time, and they never call the physician during the night. As a matter of fact, very few physicians become skin specialists as they prefer general medicine and surgery.

Because skin patients are not sick, most general physicians give little attention to diseases of the skin. If the patient's symptoms do not clear up in a matter of days or weeks, he is referred to a skin specialist.

Of course, skin diseases such as measles, scarlet fever, chicken pox are readily recognized by the general physician and treated accordingly.

Thus even slight changes of the skin may be the outward sign of inward diseases is pointed out in "Medical Clinics of North America" by Dr. Marcus Rayner Caro, Illinois College of Medicine. Dr. Caro states that disturbances of the skin often are really a window showing a disturbance or disease "inside" the body.

While changes or disturbances in the composition of the blood—amount of hemoglobin and changes in the percentages of the different kinds of white corpuscles—are discovered by examination of the blood in the veins in the skin or from examination of marrow in the breast bone (sternum), such a serious disease as leukemia, sometimes called blood cancer, has been found by examination of a skin disturbance.

Some of the yellow growths in the skin, particularly on the eyelids, show that there is a disturbance in the way fat foods are handled by the body. Also, at times tuberculosis, syphilis, psoriasis and leprosy will show skin disturbances before the real underlying disease is suspected or being present. Examination of a small piece of the skin, growth under the microscope, the disease causing it may be found and given early treatment.

Sometimes yellow spots on the skin of middle-aged women and men too, point to a disturbance often present during change of life.

As we think of how the outer skin reflects conditions inside the body, the skin may well be called a window.

Anemia
Send today for Dr. Barton's leaflet on the two types of anemia. Just enclose 5 cents, coin preferred, and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y., and ask for leaflet "Anemia."

(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Leish is no closet poet. His full life ought to give power to his appeals for the study and enjoyment of great literature.

For the first time a party of explorers has made its way on foot to the Angel Falls, in eastern Venezuela near the Brazilian border. These falls were discovered in 1935 by an American flyer, Jimmie Angel, and are estimated to be 3,500 feet high. This would make them the highest falls in the world. The successful explorers include some Americans and one young woman.

Astronomers are getting farther and farther into space, and their conclusion seems to be, as laymen already suspected, that there is no end to it.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
By Drew Pearson

Washington—One of the most important and amazing aspects of the congressional furor over B-36's probably won't be touched on by the House Armed Services Committee. It is the manner in which ingratiating, likable Floyd Odlum, son of a Michigan preacher who became the barefoot boy of Wall Street, has become a gentleman of backstage importance in the Truman administration.

Also important is the manner in which Mr. Odlum has sucked various big corporations under his control, sometimes by buying up directors.

Yet Floyd Odlum was called to the White House not long ago and offered the job of chairman of the post of Secretary of the Resources Board, the vitally important job for which the Senate recently turned down ex-Gov. Mon Wallgren of Washington. It has also been reported that Odlum is now being considered as Secretary of Commerce.

Just how Mr. Odlum worked his way into White House graces is not definitely known—but his campaign contributions may be one clue to the mystery.

Furthermore, Odlum's friends have a habit of reaching into the government and pulling wire to get his men appointed to key positions. For instance, Curtis Calder, head of the giant Electric Bond and Share (long dominated by Odlum), has now been offered the post of Secretary of the Army—which controls the Army Engineers, who in turn control the government's big power dams. These big dams, of course, vitally affect Electric Bond and Share.

Again, Odlum forces have been maneuvering behind the scenes to have Richard Patterson, now ambassador to Guatemala, transferred to be ambassador to Argentina. Reason: Patterson is a director of one of Odlum's subholding corporations. Odlum's Electric Bond and Share invested $37,000,000 in Argentine utility companies. Therefore Odlum wants someone in the American Embassy in Buenos Aires to cope with President Peron, who has already taken them over.

Secret Argentine Deal
Incidentally, the Electric Bond and Share investments in Argentina were made by Odlum without the knowledge of its stockholders, who now are irate and indignant. And it's significant that in 1928 Curtis Calder wrote his chief accountant a confidential letter instructing him to enter the $37,000,000 advanced to Odlum to buy Argentine utilities in such a way that it would be camouflaged on the company's books.

This is the man—Curtis Calder—whom President Truman and Floyd Odlum now want to make secretary of the army. Incidentally, Calder's letter is in the official files of the Securities and Exchange Commission and can be secured by the Armed Services Committee in 15 minutes.

"Commissions" to Wall Streeters
Also in S.E.C. files is other significant data regarding the powerful gentleman who pulls wires backstage in the Truman administration. Those files show how Odlum paid $100,000 to Ed Hutton and $59,646.35 to David G. Baird in 1931 to get them to turn the Chatham Phenix Allied Corporation over to Odlum's Atlas Corporation. Hutton was a director of Chatham Phenix, and the $100,000 he received from Odlum amounted to a so-called "commission" to use his influence against the stockholders who was supposed to represent them.

In the end, Odlum's Atlas Corp. got Chatham Phenix Allied Corp. for only $8,367,300, which money was actually advanced to Odlum by the Chatham Phenix Bank, and when the deal was all finished in 1933 the stockholders, as usual, came out on the hairy end of the rollopp. They got $13,311 for stock which had cost them $27.

Not even Jay Gould or the elder J. P. Morgan in their lushest days ever pulled a deal like that.

Again S.E.C. records show that Odlum in 1930 paid secret fees to five directors of the All America General Corporation, thereby managing to absorb the company into his own Atlas Corp. So secret were these so-called "commissions" that none of the five directors knew the others were getting paid by Atlas, and each thought his own persuasive arguments were convincing the others to join Atlas.

The S.E.C. uses strong language in condemning this practice, making it appear that what Odlum paid in less elegant language, would be called bribes. The directors of All America secretly subsidized by Odlum to vote for him and against the interests of their stockholders were:

C. Shelby Carter, $46,000; Richard B. Scandress, $22,700; J. W. Campbell, $38,500; Harold C. Richard, $77,000; and C. H. Nichols, $16,170.

As a result of this sleight-of-hand, the stockholders once again came out on the hairy end of the rollopp. The exchange of stock worked out by all America's directors with Odlum's atlas cost them a "gross loss in asset values" of approximately $470,000, "according to the S.E.C."

"However," continues the S.E.C., "an aggregate of $200,370 was paid to Messrs. Carter, Scandress, Campbell, Richard and Nichols as commissions for their efforts in recommending exchange transfers."

Politics and B-36?
This columnist, after exhaustive research, has come to the conclusion that Odlum's financial godfathering of the Truman campaign and his attorney's fees to Defense Secretary Louis Johnson had absolutely nothing to do with purchases of the B-36 from Odlum's Consolidated Vultee Aircraft. The switch to B-36's was decided by a board of officers after months of research, readjustment and flying. Politics had nothing to do with it.

However, the backstage operations of Floyd Odlum are highly important and will continue to be important. The American public has a right to know about them. The American public also has a right to know about the myth built up around the army and navy, that men with Wall Street backgrounds are best qualified to operate the army and navy. The most dangerous thing about some of these gentlemen is that their backgrounds undermine public confidence in national defense.

Simple Piece of Constructive Planning Is Way Out of Confusion on Unification of Armed Forces
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 1—There's one way out of the confusion which has developed in the effort to secure unification of the armed services. It doesn't require any new legislation. But it does require a simple piece of constructive planning by the secretary of defense.

The solution has been slowly crystallizing out of the current experience inside the joint chiefs of staff. It necessitates a brief review of principles for the operation of that all-important agency. It can be written only by the joint chiefs and put into effect as a directive by the secretary of defense. The precedent for such a step is the famous Key West agreement on strategic functions.

In that agreement, roles and missions were outlined. When, for example, to the air force alone was assigned the primary responsibility for strategic bombing, it was also stipulated that the navy should assist whenever practicable in the carrying out of such a mission.

But to the navy were assigned certain missions, too, such as anti-submarine warfare, the bombing of submarine pens and the laying of mines and other tasks.

The outline of missions made at Key West last year was an excellent beginning. It didn't, however, go far enough and take up internal procedures and budget-making. Using the same approach, it now becomes necessary for the joint chiefs of staff to make a basic agreement on two major points:

1. Shall there be a specific plan for war and shall everything be related to that particular plan or shall there be a flexible plan which would permit the armed services to meet any contingencies that arise when a war comes? A rigid plan has the serious disadvantage of basing all strategy on one defense, such as on the Maginot Line. Obviously, the flexible plan is the better.

2. Shall each service vote its view in the joint chiefs of staff as to the way in which another service's mission shall be carried out and with what weapons? This goes to the root of the present controversy.

It will be conceded by fair-minded men in all the armed services that a certain amount of scrutiny of each other's budgets is desirable so that no service can go off on a tangent with a strained interpretation of its needs. It is admitted also that the mutual scrutiny of budgets can be helpful if carried merely to the point of criticism and observation. When, however, the discussion reaches the technical point of what weapons shall be used to carry out an assigned mission, then the decision should be made by each service as to what weapons it needs for that mission. Nor should any weapon be the exclusive or monopoly privilege of one service. When war comes, it is necessary to hit the enemy with all services and all weapons.

Today the joint chiefs of staff are in a state of disunity and confusion because it lacks a guiding charter. The statute does not specify what the procedures should be inside the joint chiefs. (The omission is probably a good thing because flexibility is essential, especially in emergencies.)

Here are specific examples of what has happened recently to cause friction. The B-36 program was submitted to the joint chiefs at various stages. The navy representative on the joint chiefs did not question the policy of putting all the eggs in one basket as the air force appeared to be doing.

Approval was given to the budget asked by the air force and the routine changes in B-36 orders on the theory that the air force knew best what weapons it wanted for its missions.

Consequently, however, both the army and the air force voted against the building of the large carrier, despite the insistence of the navy that it needed such a vessel to carry out naval missions. Now the dispute has entered "another" vociferous stage. The army and air force have begun to question the modernization of such aircraft carriers as already are built. This is carrying matters to the technical point of saying, in effect, that a man who has spent his entire career with ground troops is capable of navigating a ship and carrying out sea operations or bringing his inexpert judgment on those subjects to the conference table. It is this absurdity which is holding up unification. Selecting a chairman whose experience is also confined to one service doesn't help matters any.

The problem can be solved by letting the three services come to agreement on an over-all budget to recommend to Congress and then let each service, by adhering to the Key West agreement on missions, determine for itself what weapons and organization it shall use to carry out those missions within the budget figure set finally by Congress for each service. Unification then will come naturally.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Nostalgia, is a horned-rimmed word of the same litter with implementation and social impact. It is, however, the best word I can call up to explain current and recent attempts to revive vaudeville in the ancient surroundings and groupings. Yearning doesn't quite do because yearning has a forward speed as well as reverse. Nostalgia just goes backward. It certainly is strange that when so many who enjoyed vaudeville are still around these efforts always fail, but you are not going to catch me being profound about it.

Much of the entertainment of this day is just vaudeville in modern guise and very inferior to the original, and yet I think the original would lay an egg because the present public prefers this current version. That is just taste, that's all. It does have its merits at that. I doubt that Willie Collier, who certainly was a spontaneous fellow, was the equal of Collier, Beane at repartee, but Collier operated in a day when actors were rigidly required to speak nothing but the recitations prepared for them by the writers and/or themselves in advance of the entertainment, so, we don't know how well he would have come off in impromptu banter with rummies in the audience who, as Jimmy Durante says, are always trying to get into the act.

Raymond Hitchcock sometimes seemed to be making up his comic remarks and dry expressions out of his head as he went along, and so did Frank Tinney. They were two of the very few who in those days practiced the unprofessional and, I believe, unethical trick of stepping out of character and climbing up to the audience's lap which is now standard conduct in the night clubs and radio, too. Actors, and they include jugglers, acrobats and even the dumb but pretty ladies in even cotton lights and in iridescent sequins who landed the magnificence, his wand and his plug hat and got out in half or less than the climax of the act, were very aloof. They kept the audience at a distance and their art on an impersonal plane. When a witticism died a comedian like to died with it instead of passing it off with some lame and sorry shop talk about his gig writer.

But Collier, Hitchcock and Tinney were mostly musical comedy men, not vaudevillians, except in occasional ventures between big productions. The big stars looked down on vaudeville, although when you remember that Bernhardt played vaudeville before she succumbed.

Berle may not know it himself but he is a lot like the English pianists who succeed or flop under a rule quite strange to us which permits heckling by the audience.

By BILLY ROSE

Time was when any American who put an ocean between himself and mom's deep-dish apple pie was considered a bum or a beachcomber.

Well, I wouldn't know about that, but I do know that I broke ice and bread with people from a hundred Main streets during my recent rubbernecking romp, and that mighty few of them bear any similarity to the wacks and wastrels that our lit'ry folk were wont to rib and roast in the novels of the Twenties.

Today, the Yank in King Arthur's or anybody else's court is apt to be more interested in mis-sion than in mischief, and it's pretty good odds that the Babbitt ranging around the Aegean docks is there because of relief wheat rather than local color.

In other words, as I see and saw it, we're breeding a new type of ex-patriate, and the ones who impressed me most on my jaunty jaunt can be broken down into three classifications.

Regular Army Men

Like most civilians, I've always figured that a man who wore an officer's uniform between wars was a stumblebum who thought the world owed him a pension after 50. Today, however, after taking a look at a lot of our far-away army posts, I'm convinced that our peacetime soldiers are essentially decent, civilized guys who put in a lot of hours for not too much take-home and, often as not, without much home to take it to.

Exceptions? Sure — dossierful. But, in the main, the braided boys I met seemed to know the score, and this did nice things to my spine, seeing as how these career officers will be the core of our army if and when the Cold War ever develops a temperature.

Foreign Correspondents

Here, too, I came home with a suitcaseful of respect. To begin with, I found that our by-liners are not the "yahoos" with snap-brims and snapper dialogue who pass for newspapermen in our Hollywood parables of the press, but mostly sober-brained citizens who read books as well as write them. Day after day, they call their power-driven pot-shots as they see them and, censors and iron curtains notwithstanding, go right on insisting that their headlines remain unvarnished. Of course, their abilities vary as abilities have a habit of doing, to the last man-jack-or-jill of them, I got the feeling they were doing their darnedest to make sure that the pennies you plunk down on the newsstand are a sound investment.

Diplomats

For years, I've believed that the striped-pants brigade consisted of dolts, dimes and dithering duns who had gotten their plushy posts by plying up to the party in power. But, by large and in the round, the embassy boss-men I met on my trip turned out to be smart Josephs, whose smartness didn't stop with the cut of their cutaways.

For instance and example, take James Bruce, our ambassador to Argentina. Jim is a likable and well-liked gent who plays the cards close to his belt, buckles and refuses to take any wooden wess. The pinkos down there accuse him of being a white-o, and the white-o's bawl him out for being a pinko, but—as Peron and the lady have learned—this American businessman is strictly a red, white and blue-o.

I had several chats with Mr. B. in Buenos Aires, and it's my hunch that the powers that be in Pampasland will have to straighten out and fly right before he recommends that we toss a dollar cushion under their nose-living currency.

Another James I'd like to paraphrase about is a fellow named Dunn, our ambassador to Rome, who has been giving a good account of himself in spite of Communists, Fascists and Stat Department directives. He's usually on the dock when an American relief ship arrives and, before they even get the hatches open, he's up on a platform telling the populace what's in the boat and who sent it, and pointing out that a tractor in the hand is worth a dozen tracts in the mailbox.

A year ago last April, by train, trolley and pogo-stick, Dunn covered thousands of kilometers and, from the way the Commies yelled about him after Election Day, you could tell he was responsible for a lot of the votes they didn't get.

Averell Harriman, our special representative in Europe, is another of the new-style diplomats who stand less on ceremony than on service—as a matter of fact, when I met up with him in Paris a couple of cold months back, his apartment was minus heat and he was receiving in an overcoat.

For several years now, this big-time financier has been devoting all his time and talent to government work, and, in my opinion, it has done both him and his country nothing but good. Currently, he's passing out E.J.P. funds to help rejuvenate some of the Communist-threatened areas of our beat-up globe and, as you may have noticed, the Ruskiies at the Paris Conference are beginning to talk in more civilized decibels.

All of which is my roundabout way of saying that if I were you I wouldn't worry too much about our Innocents Abroad. Let Joe Stalin worry—and, judging from his recent pictures and postulance, the old rascalion is worried plenty.

Los Angeles, June 1 (AP)—Singer Doris Day has won a divorce from a husband who left her "heart-broken" but who otherwise was "a very nice man." But, she testified yesterday, her husband, saxophonist George Weidler, deserted her. She said the reason may have been her leaving here for a singing engagement in New York in 1947. She added that Weidler met her when she returned and said "it's all over." At that time they were living in a trailer. The couple married in audience and absolutely requires the candidate to top the hecklers' insults or turn aside serious questions with flashes of wit in the style of Jimmy Walker. I was told that in his oncoming days David Lloyd George was absolutely redoubtable at repartee and I knew a preacher around London who used to hold forth at Hyde Park corner on politics and justify everything he claimed that he couldn't be topped. Of course, his humor was French and we would have thought it terribly corny, but anyone who listens to the stuff that passes for comedy on our radio and at unbelievable prices and lays the vast unseen audience of Americans in the aisles had better think twice before passing any cracks.

This English toleration of conduct in politics, which in sports they would call burlesque and repudiate as contemptible, is a strange inconsistency of theirs and points up an equally strange paradox in our code. We are indignant, in fact, scared, when someone breaks in on the stilled and evasive bloviation of important candidates for office. In the case of the late Roosevelt a heckler would have been torn to gory shreds on the spot for less majestic or blasphemous. But in baseball, our national game next to craps, we have always regarded abusive remarks to the players as part of the game.

Actually, vaudeville never did die but evolved with the times and moved out of its old theatres into speakeasies and gambling houses which could pay crazy prices for comics, dancers and so forth to draw customers to their tables and wheels. The standards certainly were dropped in this process because an audience which is more or less plastered, and usually more than less, is not exacting as to either art or taste.

In the old days, burlesque was regarded as a disreputable form of entertainment. Respectable ladies never went and respectable gentlemen, when they did go, turned up their collars and snuck in. It was a little gamey for the times at that, but many of the jokes that have been discussed as humor for mixed audiences of the carriage trade at our big casinos in the resorts in the last 20 years would have brought the cops to Sam T. Jacks or the Folly or the Trocadero.

Some of our most successful intimate entertainers just can't come out of the sewer, but we must like their material because they go on and on. They never get so invulnerable, the head office would cancel your time and you would walk back. In between we got the strip show and one of the New York congressmen tried to represent this as a new American art form when the fact was that it was the foulest corruption ever offered. A number of persons identified with the vilest of these institutions were discussed seriously as artists of integrity and even quoted in some columns on social and political matters, but it is the history of the stage that actors, singers, jesters and all such are vagabonds. It was not entirely by their choice that they kept apart from the public until recent years, but by the force of an ancient ostracism. An editor would have been as likely to consult a keeper of some disreputable place as an actor on political issues. The change which has endowed them with a grant of intelligence or wisdom has wrought no better effect than confusion of public opinion and degradation of political and personal morality. ## Strack Is Also Held For Upstate Burglaries

Schenectady, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—A man held in New York city on a charge of stealing $98,600 from a wealthy widow's home has been indicted in connection with burglaries in this area.

Richard L. Strack, 26, of Amsterdam, N. Y., was named yesterday in a 10-count indictment returned by a Schenectady county grand jury.

The jury also indicted Donald F. Timlick, 29, of Schenectady. They were accused of taking more than $3,100 in cash as well as watches and jewelry from homes in Scotia, Niskayuna and Burnt Hills, between April 5 and May 5. The indictments allege illegal possession of a pistol, four counts of third degree burglary, three counts of petit larceny and one count each of first degree grand larceny and second degree assault.

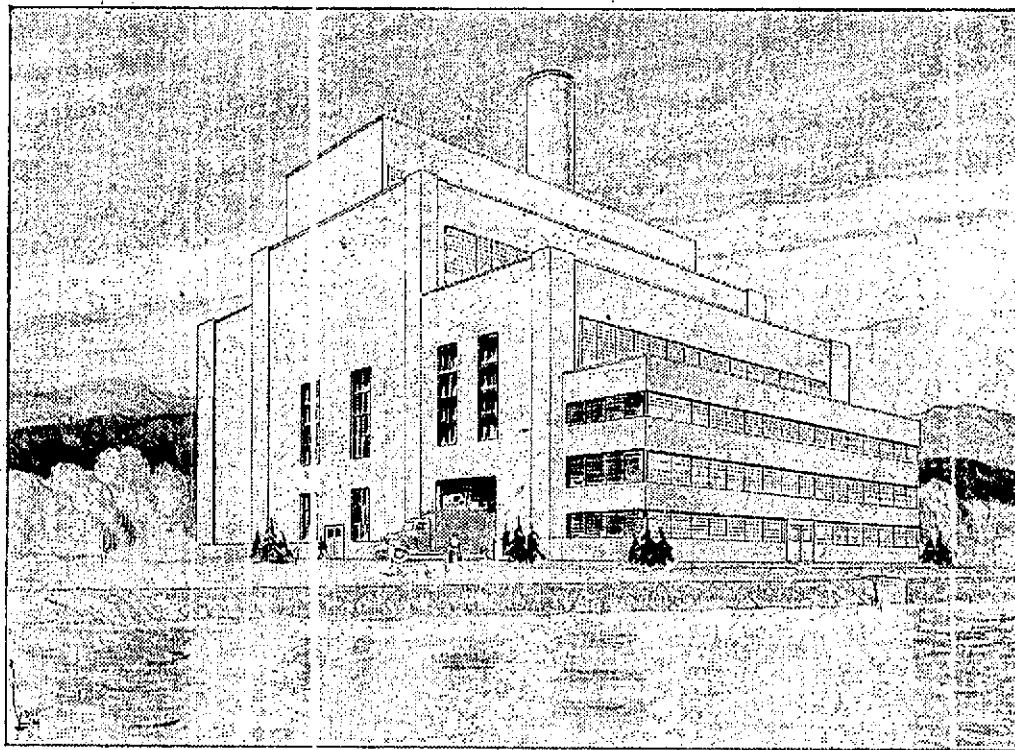

Strack was arrested in New York city early in May and accused of taking $98,600 from the home of Mrs. John N. Willys, widow of the automobile manufacturer.

To Build $12,000,000 Plant

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation will start construction beginning January, 1950 on a twelve million dollar steam generating plant at Danskammer Point. The plant will generate 60,000 kilowatts of electricity. Its design will permit construction of additional plant units if they are needed to meet future power requirements.

Estimate 35 To Be Required for Plant Operation

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation announced today that it will begin active construction during January 1950, of a large steam generating electric plant at Danskammer Point on the west bank of the Hudson river six miles north of Newburgh. The plant will cost between $12,000,000 and $13,000,000 and will generate 60,000 kilowatts (90,000 horsepower) of electricity. Its design will permit construction of additional plant units if they are needed to meet future power requirements. Burns & Roe, of New York city have been retained by Central Hudson as engineers to design the plant and to supervise construction.

Upon completion of the Danskammer Point installation, Central Hudson will be able to produce in its own system a substantial part of its total power requirements. Although the company will continue to purchase some power from connecting companies, a contract with the Consolidated Edison Company of New York city under which much of Central Hudson's power has been purchased will be cancelled as of December 31, 1951.

The new Danskammer plant will undergo tests during December 1951, and will go into continuous operation on January 1, 1952, upon the expiration of the present Central Hudson-Consolidated Edison contract.

Central Hudson purchased the plant site at Danskammer Point in 1940 in anticipation of an increase in power requirements that might necessitate the building of a steam generating plant. The site covers approximately 60 acres, has 4,465 feet of river frontage, is accessible by highway, railroad and river, and is generally considered one of the best sites for its purpose on the Hudson river. It is also the western terminus of the first high voltage submarine pipe cable in the United States, which the company laid under the river in 1948 as a vital link in its Pleasant Valley-Marlborough transmission system. The new steam plant will generate at 13,800 volts. This voltage will be stepped up by transformers on the site to 110,000 volts which will connect into the Pleasant Valley Marlborough line and thus into the entire central Hudson transmission system.

The plant will be characterized by many unusual engineering features and plans were drafted only after long preliminary consultations between Central Hudson and Burns & Roe engineers. Studies were made of the relative efficiencies and cost of 40,000 kilowatt, 50,000 kilowatt, and 60,000 kilowatt steam turbine-driven generators and the largest size was finally chosen as the most economical per kilowatt generated. In accordance with modern steam station practice, the unit will consist of a single boiler and single turbine generator combination. It will operate at a steam pressure of 1,650 pounds per square inch, and the steam temperature will be 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit. To obtain maximum fuel economy a reheater type turbine will be used. After the steam passes through part of the turbine, it will be returned to the boiler and reheated. The steam will then pass into the rest of the turbine and finally into the condenser.

To simplify construction and maximize maximum operating efficiency, the generator will be mounted on the condenser instead of on a separate foundation. This arrangement has never before been used in a generating unit of this large size, but engineering studies show that it is entirely practicable and that it will save considerable sums in construction and maintenance costs. The mounting has been used on small machines with excellent results. The new steam turbine-driven generator will be manufactured by the General Electric Company.

The plant structure will cover an area of 80 by 160 feet. It is estimated that 35 men will be required for operation of the plant and that a minimum of 50,000 tons of coal must be kept on hand at all times to insure continuous production of electricity.

State Announces 827 Scholarships Added to Schedule

Albany, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—A total of 827 additional state scholarships worth $350 annually for four years will become operative next September, Governor Dewey's office announced today.

The new awards, created by the 1949 Legislature, double the state's university scholarship program from 827 to 1,654. They increase from five to 10 the number of such awards made to each Assembly district in the state.

The scholarships will be distributed on the basis of candidates' standings in competitive examinations held by the Board of Regents on May 2 and 3.

The added awards were made possible by use of lapsed monies in the state's war service scholarship fund and other scholarship appropriations, Dewey's office said.

The new awards will supplement the present state scholarship program which comprises 1,200 war service scholarships for veterans, 827 university awards, 150 Cornell scholarships and 100 scholarships for children of deceased or disabled veterans.

The governor's office said it was expected that as the need for war service scholarships decreases more university scholarships would be made available.

The decimal system of counting came about because man learned to count on his 10 fingers.

Albany Plumbers Idle As They Seek Pay Boost

Albany, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—About 200 A.F.L. plumbers were idle today, but a threatened strike by structural iron workers was averted.

The plumbers left their jobs yesterday for an all-day "welfare meeting." A union official said such sessions would continue daily until a new wage scale is negotiated.

The plumbers, who have been receiving $2.25 an hour, want a 25-cent hour boost. Workers Local 12 (A.F.L.), which voted May 14 to strike, and the Builders Exchange reached a settlement. Terms, which must be ratified by union members, were not disclosed.

The Sikhs are a religious sect influenced by both Hindu and Mohammedan teachings.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, May 31—Alfred Breuninger, talented young West Hempstead violinist and nephew of Henry J. Gebele of Shokan, was heard over the N.B.C. network last Wednesday evening. Alfred, who has appeared with the New York Center symphony orchestra and as guest artist with the New Orleans Symphony, in the course of his three years' service with the Army Air Forces was conductor of a military band. His first won musical recognition in the New York Music Week contest at the age of 10 years. The young man's mother, Mrs. Alfred Breuninger, Sr., has visited the Gebele home in the village center upon a number of occasions.

The Felix Sierra and Leonard Guglielmo families of New York spent the holiday with their relative, Charles Rodriguez, who has been at his farm home in the Coons neighborhood for the past several weeks.

Some grading is being done on the shoulders of the new section of the Ontario Trail at Boiceville. In addition to final grading work between here and Boiceville, there remains the job of erecting steel and concrete cable-guard fencing at several points. An improvement on the strip of state road leading down to the dividing weir below the dam is being made with crushed stone and binder of several hundred feet of old macadam between the Trail and the railroad viaduct. The state department-men completed this job in a little over two hours, according to one local observer, who says there were really "men at work" upon this occasion.

Elwyn Davis and Joe Winkler of the west side of the reservoir placed flags on all veterans' graves in Olive the latter part of the week. The two patriotic citizens annually perform this service, visiting even the small and isolated burying grounds, and thus becoming acquainted with the last resting place of soldiers and sailors dating back to Revolutionary times.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Miller on Saturday moved from their rented bungalow in the village center to the Stone Ridge sector where Granville has employment.

Anniversaries this week include the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lupercus of Ashokan and the birthday of Mrs. Edward G. West of Allaben. Alfred and the former Elizabeth Brown of Atwood were married in 1935 at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale. They have since made their home in Ashokan village and have two young sons, John and Tom.

Mrs. West, principal of the Ashokan school, has taught in Olive for many years and is one of the most popular and efficient educators in the new Ontario Central District. She is a daughter of Anna Weeks Riseley who was born and brought up in Shokan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gikas and four children of New York made their first trip of the season here and spent the holiday at the Gikas summer home in the village center.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church meets Wednesday of this week at the home of Mrs. R. W. Longyear and Edna Longyear. The church recreational gathering on Wednesday evening will be the last one until next fall, though the devotional hour on that evening will be continued as usual.

Mrs. Stephen Schaeffer of Kingston stopped here Saturday while en route to visit her sister, Elhel Shurter, at the Shurter farmhouse near Samsonville.

A procession of cars of ancient vintage provided one of the interesting sights along the Ontario Trail Saturday and Monday. The cavalcade which included open cars dating back to waterworks days, were peopled by motorists wearing long dusters, goggles and other accessories deemed essential to comfortable (?) motoring, 40 years ago and more.

Robert Robeson, former K.H.S.

student, who is employed in the drafting department at General Electric's Schenectady plant, comes home every week end to be with his mother. Postmaster Mabel Robeson of Boiceville.

Mrs. William C. Davis, well known Olive Bridge church and civic worker, was numbered among the callers in the hub of the reservoir country Saturday afternoon.

Horace Dunham, Ashland resident, who recently rounded out 90 years of life, was tendered a birthday dinner party by several of his friends. Gifts received by the Greene county nonagenarian upon this auspicious occasion included the following: 70 greeting cards, five birthday cakes, a batch of doughnuts, cigars and a wheelbarrow. Mr. Dunham likes to work in his garden and of course will find the barrow handy for this purpose. It will also make a good resting place while sampling the several cakes, or enjoying those fine "seagees." Well, our best wishes to you, Old Timer! You were a little tyke of two years when the Civil War cannon began to roar and my, what a lot of history you have seen unfolded since that momentous day.

Holiday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weeks included their New York city friends, Harry Studer and the latter's sister, Della Claus. They have been occasional visitors to Shokan for the past several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Pfiffer of Schenectady were at their place on the Ontario Trail over the week-end and holiday. Mrs. Pfiffer is the former Lillian Wright of the old village of Shokan.

Justus North, assisted by John Adsit and Donald North, landscaped the servicemen's memorial on the Baptist meeting house grounds Monday morning. Harry Braithwaite augmented the attractive display of shrubs and flowers by transplanting some geraniums to the urns which flank the roster tablets of the memorial.

The Misses Dee and Beatrice Schreiner and Jack Harris of New York were included among the holiday guests at Camp Tanager, home of Mr. and Mrs. Emerich Lukacs. Monday afternoon, the visitors joined the family group in attending the Legion memorial exercises at Olive Bridge, where young Teddy Lukacs was one of four school students receiving awards in the Post's essays contest. Still another member of the party was Abraham Chason, Mrs. Lukacs's brother, of New York, who was here for the week-end.

Lester Lawrence, Jr., is one of the local residents having a birthday on Wednesday, June 1. The lad, elder son of Lester and Anna Lawrence of the east end of the village, is a pupil of the Ashokan school and member of the Boy Scouts Troop No. 63. The same date marks the 51st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Gles, residents of long standing and natives of the reservoir country.

GRANGE NEWS

2,500 Visit Navy Ship Here

U.S.S. PC-546 arrived off Esopus Meadows Light Station at 5:30 p. m. last Saturday and at that time, Mayor Newkirk, former Supervisor John T. Groves, Thomas Bohan and Herman E. Gottfried boarded the ship from a Constguard boat. The ship proceeded to Kingston, where it docked at 6 p. m. at Newcomb's dock.

Over 2,500 people visited the Navy ship in connection with the Memorial Day celebration which took place in this city. The people who were fortunate enough to visit the ship Sunday received orange juice and snacks from the crew while those who visited the ship Monday received ice cream and cake.

Saturday evening, a reception and dinner was held in honor of the captain and officers of the ship at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Gottfried, at which were present Mayor and Mrs. Newkirk, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bohan.

St. Mary's Benevolent Association arranged dances and receptions for the crew on Saturday and Sunday evenings, at their club houses on North street, which were very successful.

The following evening Mr. and Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly entertained at their home in honor of Captain V. L. Warner, commanding officer of the ship. Captain Warner stated that he lived in a house in Mystic, Conn., somewhat similar to Mr. and Mrs. Connelly's and enjoyed himself tremendously at the dinner. Those present were Major and Mrs. Theodore R. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Gottfried.

The following day, Mayor Newkirk and Mrs. Newkirk, together with Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried, had lunch aboard the vessel and then the mayor conducted a personal tour of the county and countryside. The tour included such spots as Catskill Mountain House, Palenville Drive and other points of interest. That evening, the owners of Judie's Restaurant prepared an elaborate reception for the mayor and officers of the ship. The captain was deeply impressed by such a cordial welcome and stated that it was one of the finest receptions he has ever experienced in his 24 years in the Navy.

The committee wishes to thank Anthony Alecca and the members of the St. Mary's Benevolent Association for their generosity, as well as Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Currie who so thoughtfully arranged a fine dinner at Judie's Restaurant.

World's first successful liquid-fuel rocket was fired at Auburn, Mass., on March 16, 1926.

"Our cottage sure looks like a castle!"

A typical story of everyday Americans — the most independent people on earth

"Ever since we came to this country, Olga and I have dreamed of owning our own home some day, the way so many of our American friends do.

"Of course, on my salary it took time and patient saving. But this year, thanks to a Savings Bank mortgage and our own Savings Bank account, we bought our home at last.

"A man's house is his castle"—they say. And our little cottage sure looks like a castle to us!"

In New York State more people put their savings in Savings Banks than anywhere else. They like dealing with a friendly, familiar, neighborhood Savings Bank. And above all, they know their money is safe.

So guard your financial independence as 7 million New Yorkers do. Open a Savings Bank account this week. And keep your account growing—add to it every payday. Remember, saving makes the difference between wishing and having.

Why your Savings Bank is your money's best friend

- AVAILABILITY. No delay... no red tape. Your money is ready on a minute's notice.
- SAFETY. Not one of the 130 Savings Banks has ever missed paying its depositors regular interest-dividends.
- CONVENIENCE. 218 Savings Bank offices with banking hours to suit the community.
- EXTRA SERVICES. A wide variety of services to meet the needs of thrifty savers and home owners.

"Pardon ME - I forgot it was E-DAY!"

June 1st - E-Day! Electric Day!...

June 1st—E-Day! Electric Day! How could anyone forget it? It's the day everyone should celebrate as effortless day. Just think a minute... what would your home be like without electricity?

- Without electricity, how would you refrigerate your food?
- Without electricity, how would you light your home?
- Without electricity, how would you wash your clothes?
- Without electricity, how would you iron them?
- Without electricity, how would you tell accurate time?
- Without electricity, how would you clean your home?
- Without electricity, how would you get your radio and television shows, play your records?
- Without electricity, how would you do the scores of other things you do each day—quickly, cheaply, without work or effort on your part?

In your home, on your farm, in your store or factory... look at each piece of equipment that makes your days happier, your work lighter, that saves time and steps.

Guild Shop Has Weaving Display

Woodstock, June 1—An innovation at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, which opened Friday is the room devoted entirely to a display of weaving by Floyd Lavigne and his assistant, Mrs. Bessie Stowell, and unusual modern furniture by Allan Gould.

Special lighting has been devised for this room where from the walls is hung the original colors and designs in hand-woven drapery, upholstery and tweed materials. There are beautiful hand-woven rugs in exciting combinations of color and materials. Allan Gould, who has achieved prominence for his uncommon designs, combines comfort with good looks in his modern pieces which include chairs, chests, tables, screens and others.

It was apparent from the exhibitor of silver jewelry that the responsible craftsmen had had a productive winter in creating new designs and beautifully finished pieces. Grouped in one case was the work of Edith Temple, Margaret Gruver, Ruth Wilcox, Edward Chavez and Jesse Stagg. The variation noticed in the work of these artists is extremely interesting.

Visitors were attracted by the colorful nursery aviary designed and made by Mrs. Walter Sealon and the ceramic mirror frame in a soft, blue coloring made by Jesse Stagg. Original hand-jockeyed linens, crocheted hats, rugs, out-of-doors furniture, dried herbs and dressings, books by Woodstock writers, are also in the Guild, as well as numerous other items.

Mrs. Katherine Wampler is the executive supervisor of the Guild. Mrs. Rosalind d'Albis, chairman of the shop committee, and Miss Katrina Miller, shop attendant.

Meeting Scheduled By Local Guild

Woodstock, June 1—The semi-annual meeting of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will be held on the terrace of the Guild Center Wednesday, June 8, at 2:30 p. m. Among the matters of business to be voted on is the choice of the Consignor's representative, and it is urgently requested that a large number of consignors and members be present.

Miss Edith Sorrell of Dobbs Ferry will give an interesting talk on the subject of hand puppets. Miss Sorrell has evolved her own method of making these and is now teaching the art in schools throughout the country. She has sold several sets of puppets to various universities. They are entirely original, all made by hand and no two alike.

Tea will be served by the Guild hostesses, Mrs. Anton Otto Fischer, Mrs. Anita Stallforth, and their committee.

To Hold Rally

Woodstock, June 1—There will be a big rally of United World Federalists on June 9 at Madison Square Garden in New York city. Members of the Woodstock Library are being urged to attend the rally and the second General Assembly of New York state branch at the Hotel Roosevelt June 11 and 12.

Home Bureau to Hold Meeting on Folklore

Woodstock, June 1—Ghosts, superstitions and such will be brought to light Friday, June 3, at 8 p. m., in the Woodstock Library when Dr. Louis C. Jones, author of "Spooks in the Valley" will be the guest speaker at the annual folklore meeting of the Home Bureau. Dr. Jones is also the editor of Folklore Magazine and director of the Farmers Museum.

The audience will be invited to participate in telling folklore stories at the conclusion of Dr. Jones' talk.

A large attendance of out-of-town guests is expected. Mrs. Tor Bush Bryce, chairman, Ellenville Home Bureau unit, with several members of the unit, will be present. Miss Agnes Scott Smith, history instructor, who has written a book on folklore, will also attend as will Miss Everice Parsons and Mrs. William Powers of Kingston.

Mrs. Dairy Montgomery is chairman for the meeting and will be assisted by the Mesdames Josephine Neher, Hermine Kutzschbach, Norah Holdridge, Helen Buttrick, Effie Happy, and Miss Nova Shultis. The meeting is open to the public.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 1—George A. Berk gave a surprise cocktail and dinner party Monday afternoon for his wife on the occasion of her birthday. Fifteen guests were included in the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Parker had as their house guests for the week-end, Mrs. Almy Guilford, New York city. They entertained for their guest Sunday afternoon and evening. Those present were Mr.

and Mrs. Sidney Tobias, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Otto Fischer, Mrs. Margaret Kenyon and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thibout.

Lieutenant and Mrs. John Cleveland, Alexandria, Va., will be guests of his mother, Mrs. Cristos Cleveland, this week.

Miss Jean Strain is arriving from Wilmington, Del., this week and will be a guest of Mrs. Margaret Kenyon until her house is ready for summer occupancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schneider have leased the Whitehead cottage, The Angelus, for the summer months.

Michael Linenthal, manager, Woodstock Playhouse, has leased the Zena Mill house for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ross and perhaps other members of the resident company at the theatre will occupy the house.

The damage caused by the recent fire in Riley's has been repaired and they have moved back into the location. While repairs were under way, the Riley's carried on their newspaper and bus business from the Woodstock Art Gallery.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spiel, New Haven, Conn., former Woodstockers, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. John Striebel returned from California Friday. Many parties have been given during the week-end when their many friends gave them a hearty welcome.

Miss Ann Metzler, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius A. V. Sewell, will leave this week for Chicago.

Friends of Mrs. Anita Phillips were happy to see her here for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rosenfeld are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter in a New York city hospital.

Miss Claire Wade drove from Long Island for a visit to Mrs. Mollie Higgins Smith. Miss Wade planned to be here for the week-end, but like other arrivals, who had not made reservations, could find no accommodations.

Mrs. Nell Louderbach purchased two paintings by Mollie Higgins Smith, "Winter Landscape" and "Flower Study."

E. Leslie Vaid, president and Steward Klonis, director of the Art Students League, have been here for the past week preparing for the opening of the summer school June 1. Both report registration hampered by lack of living accommodations.

Forrest Goodenough was heard at the piano by hundreds of guests during the week-end in Deane's Gallery room.

Those attending the Tumbleweed Ranch Horse Show at West Kill Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bonesteel, Mrs. James Stoutenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Erieland Van de Bogert and son Gordon, Ruby McNulty, Alfred Ostrander, Malcolm Cannright and Richard Shultis.

Mrs. D. K. Hall has opened her Bearsville home for the summer.

Writers, painters, sculptors, United Nations delegates and others of prominence were among the guests in the local hotels for the holiday week-end. Business people generally reported that in spite of cool weather, the visitors by far outnumbered those for the same holiday last year. "Traffic was heavy everywhere in the village and it was difficult most of the time to find parking space within blocks of the village green."

Nancy Myers has opened her Bluestone Antique Shop in Parnassus Square.

Mollie Higgins Smith has announced that she will not open her gallery this summer as previously planned but will devote her time to painting.

Riding Club Members Win Ribbons in Show

Woodstock, June 1—Three members of the Woodstock Riding Club took ribbons in the Tumbleweed Ranch Horse Show at West Kill, Sunday afternoon. President Virgil VanWagonen on Aral took a blue in the men's cutting horse class and a yellow in the parade class. Mrs. VanWagonen, treasurer of the local club, on her mare Copper Babe took a blue in, the ladies cutting horse contest and Ruth Bonesteel on Bartender took fourth in the parade class.

Of particular interest was the fact that Virgil VanWagonen's timing over a regulated course in the cutting class was 13.2 seconds while the record established for this class at Tucson, Ariz., last year was 12 seconds.

Mellin Wins Flag Day Tourney With 69 Net

Woodstock, June 1—Harold Mellin won the Flag Day tournament at the Woodstock Country Club with a net of 69. Fred Allen was second with a net of 72 and Harold Kennedy third in the tournament with a net of 74. There were 36 entries in all.

The official opening of the club during the past week-end was one of the largest in years. Members and guests expressed pleasure in the entertainment furnished by Shirley Franz and Nick Gentile. At a meeting of the board of governors Saturday morning, approval was given for building a larger retaining wall. The original wall will be pointed up and reinforced on both sides and an addition of something over three feet made. When completed the wall will measure about six feet high. The work to be done will not in any way interfere with swimming in the club pool.

The handicap committee is now working on handicaps and expects to have its report ready long before the next tournament to be held on July 4.

Eskin Concert Enjoyed

Woodstock, June 1—There was standing room only at the Woodstock Art Gallery Saturday evening when Sam Eskin delighted his listeners with a large repertoire of folk songs, many of which he had collected in his travels throughout the country during the winter months. The proceeds from the concert will be given to the Community War Memorial Association for use in the purchase of the bronze plaques for the visual memorial on the Village Green.

Gloria Calamar Has Exhibit at Town House

Woodstock, June 1—An exhibition of 22 paintings and drawings representing the work of local artist Gloria Calamar was opened with a reception at the Town House, Saturday afternoon. Most of the paintings were inspired during the artist's travels in Europe about a year ago.

The reception was attended by about 75 including three friends from England, Gartham Smith, Isle of Wight; Gordon Hooper, London, England; and Derek Spice, Maidenhead, England.

The public is invited to attend Miss Calamar's exhibition which will continue through June 9.

100 Attend Opening Of Crane's Copper Shop

Woodstock, June 1—Every imaginable article from a hairpin to a large tray was displayed at The Copper Shop which Betty and Richard Crane, local craftsmen, opened in Parnassus Square (Short's Corners) Friday afternoon with a reception for about 100 guests.

It is the intention of these craftsmen to display the work of other craftsmen and artists in the community. On view at the opening were paintings and wall hangings by Rosemary Beck, as well as the copper pieces in original designs by the Cranes.

Writers Will Address Librarians on Saturday

Woodstock, June 1—Two short talks will be given at the Woodstock Library, Saturday, June 4, at 2 p. m. on the occasion of the regular meeting of the Ulster County Library Association. Maude and Miska Petersham have chosen as their subject, "What Goes Into The Making of Children's Books."

Both prominent writers of children's books, they will have much of interest to say. Henry Morton Robinson, a well-known author, will speak on "The Writer Looks at the Librarian."

The association is comprised of librarians and trustees of libraries throughout Ulster county. Mrs. Alice Thompson, local librarian, will be the chairman of the meeting.

Home Bureau Unit In Kingston Exhibit

Woodstock, June 1—Woodstock Unit of the Home Bureau will be represented by gloves, fabric and plastic bags, cane seated and rush seated chairs and hooked rugs in the exhibit on Achievement Day, June 2, at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Kingston. The exhibit will open at 10:30 a. m.

Members exhibiting are: Hermine Kutzschbach, Mabel Schmid, Maude Shelton, Edith Lasher, Dorothy Nichols, Nora Holdridge, Daisy Montgomery, Kathryn Van Ness, Elizabeth Clough, Doris Huffy, Mary Rapp, Martha Graver and Josephine Neher.

Little Gallery Opens

Woodstock, June 1—Anna Carolan's Little Gallery located in The Nook reports as sold "The One Horn Dilemma," a painting by Cornelius Bonelli. This gallery opened during the week-end is currently showing work by local artists: Brock, Carol, Cochran, Davies, Fager, Kessel, Maguire, McEvoy, Shelton, Slomin, Todde, Villard, Steve Vozdik, Saugerties, is also represented with three paintings.

Union Hose Meeting

The regular monthly meetings of the Union Hose Company 4 have been changed from the first Friday to the first Thursday of the month. All members are requested to attend Thursday's meeting at 8 p. m. Final plans for the July convention will be made.

Wants Her Money To Get Treatment

Atlanta, June 1 (AP)—A chubby, bright-eyed doctor of philosophy sat stubbornly in the office of the Georgia Teacher Retirement System today and promised: "I'm going to stay here till I get my money."

The 54-year-old woman, Dr. Willie Melmoth Bomar, a home economics teacher of Glenwood, Ga., began her sitdown strike Monday morning. She is trying to collect $65.78 deducted from her salary for the state's teacher retirement fund.

Dr. Bomar, who won her doctorate at Columbia University, wants the money to pay for treatment of a cancer.

"They took it out of my pay little by little without consulting me," said the dark-haired, determined teacher. "Now they want me to wait till I'm dead with old age to collect it."

"Well, I've got cancer, I need the money for treatment—and cancer won't wait!"

She spent her second night in the dark, deserted office last night, using a couch in the women's room for a bed. She said she has lived on sandwiches since her strike started.

Dr. Bomar flashed a train ticket to Rochester, Minn., and said she was ready to make her fifth trip to the Mayo clinic for a cancer checkup and possibly for treatment.

Last year the retirement board let Dr. Bomar have her deductions at the end of the term.

"They said they made a mistake," she declared. "Then the board pulled a secret meeting (yesterday) after I'd been waiting 24 hours to appear before it, and the chairman came out and told me they had decided against giving me my money."

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of P.F.C. John J. Post, who died in service at Bangor, Maine, four years ago today, June 1, 1945. His smiling way and pleasant face are a pleasure to recall; He had a kindly word for each and was loved by all. Some day we hope to meet him, Some day, we know not when, To clasp his hand in the better land. Never to part again.
MOTHER, FATHER, SISTER and BROTHERS.

Church in New York city and a former pastor of St. Peter's Church in Rosendale, and Fred Van Etten of New York city. Funeral services will be held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home on Friday at 11 a. m. Burial will be in Willwyck Cemetery.

Lewis W. Brannen of Fleischmanns died Tuesday in Cooperstown. He is survived by his wife, Helen Williams Brannen; a daughter, Jean; and a son, Steven, both of Fleischmanns; his mother, Mrs. Ella Brannen, Allaben; two sisters, Mrs. George Kelder, Fleischmanns, and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Pine Hill; and a half-brother, Gerald Roberts, Pine Hill. The funeral will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. from the late residence and at 2 p. m. at the Fleischmanns Methodist Church. Burial will be in the family plot in the Allaben Cemetery.

The funeral for Miss Margaret Hillis, 60 Spruce street, was held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Ivan F. Gossop, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. Herbert Killinder, former pastor, conducted the service. Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, officers and members of Kingston Chapter 155 O.E.S. conducted ritualistic services for a departed member. A large number of floral pieces were sent by many friends in tribute to the deceased. Burial was in the family plot in Montrose Cemetery.

The Rev. Mr. Gossop and the Rev. Herbert Killinder officiated at the grave.

Ida M. Pennington, wife of the late William V. Pennington who for many years conducted the Pennington Studio at 72 Main street, died at Hollywood, Calif., on May 18. Mrs. Pennington has been a resident of Hollywood since 1944. A daughter, Gracia Minasian, and two sons, Mark Pennington and William V. Pennington of Hollywood, Calif., survive. The Pennington studio was originally located on Wall street, over the Woolworth store and in 1911 was moved to Main street where Mrs. Pennington continued to operate the business until 1944 when she took up her residence in California. Her son William V. Pennington continued the business until July 1945 when it was purchased by Frank Lauppe, who has continued the studio since following the purchase of The Pennington Studio by Mr. Lauppe. William V. Pennington joined his mother in California where he has since resided.

Grover Henderson a well known resident of this city, died suddenly in his home, 51 Park street, about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. Henderson had been employed by the New York Central Railroad, as boilermaker and inspector for more than 30 years. While at work Tuesday morning he complained of not feeling well, and drove his car home, and died less than an hour after entering his residence. He was a devout member of St. Mary's parish; and the Holy Name Society of that church. He is survived by his wife who before her marriage was Catherine Cullen, and one son Leo, four daughters Mrs. Robert Boyle, Mrs. James Sweetney, Mrs. James Malone, and Miss Anastasia Henderson, and a sister Mabel Henderson, also eight grandchildren. The funeral will be held from his late residence, Friday morning, at 9:30 o'clock, and at St. Mary's Church, 10 o'clock, where a solemn high Mass will be offered. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Various Cases Heard In County Court

In County Court this morning Raymond L. Strong was sentenced to a term of from 1 to 2 years in prison on a plea of guilty to assault, second degree. The prison sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation. A rape, second degree, charge was dismissed on application of Robert Ortale, counsel.

Joseph F. McDonald, charged with grand larceny, second degree, arising out of the taking of articles from an Ellenville hotel where he was employed, entered a plea of guilty to the charge. He will be sentenced on June 8 at 10 o'clock. Court recesses until Wednesday, June 8, at 10 o'clock.

other insurance plans, or improvements to existing plans, or extra holidays.

John L. Lewis is starting contract talks for a soft coal industry agreement to succeed the one expiring at the end of this month. He reportedly wants a bigger welfare fund and shorter work week. But he may run into trouble again with the Taft-Hartley law on his union shop arrangement.

Big fights are shaping up, too, in new contract demands of Philip Murray in the steel industry, and Walter Reuther with Ford in the auto industry. These C.I.O. leaders have contract talks starting soon.

Government officials are particularly worried over the possibility of a shipping strike. Three C.I.O. unions have contracts expiring June 15. Many demands are involved, including the unions' insistence on continuing their traditional hiring halls despite a Labor Board decision they are illegal under Taft-Hartley.

Complicating the negotiations where Taft-Hartley law provisions are issues will be the prospect that Congress may change the law before adjourning for the summer.

Martino's Wives

His fingerprints were the same as those of the missing soldier.

Dorothy told the Daily News she dated Martino before the war and followed him to Camp Croft, S. C., where he took basic infantry training.

She said she lived with her father and worked in a beauty parlor while Martino was overseas. Shortly before Christmas, 1944, she said he turned up at her home.

"I just didn't question him on it," she said. "He didn't remember what happened overseas."

They resumed life together, she said, and she gave birth to a son, Richard, now 3.

Dorothy said Martino decided to contact the army to see about getting a G.I. loan to build a home.

"Some women will think I stole him and broke up a home," Dorothy was quoted by the News. "I say that a man must want to leave home before he can be stolen."

She added that their future "is uncertain."

Mrs. Weyte Opens Fair Street Shop

The dressmaking shop of Mrs. Gertrude Weyte, formerly located at 2 John street, opened today at 277 Fair street.

Mrs. Weyte will continue her line of dresses for ladies, misses and juniors, running the shop on the same basis as she has for the past two years in the John street location.

The new place on Fair street, which formerly housed the real estate firm of Mann and Gross, has been completely renovated, with new lighting, color scheme and air conditioning. Electrical work was done by Joseph Gruber and other contracting by Charles Duffy and Walter Kuhn.

The dress shop employs one dressmaker and one salesgirl in addition to Mrs. Weyte, the proprietor.

Mrs. Weyte is married to Frederick Weyte, proprietor of the Surplus Store on North Front street. They have three children. Formerly from Shokan, Mrs. Weyte is a graduate of Cooper Union, New York, where she majored in fashion designing. She has worked in the designing rooms of Elizabeth Hawes and Nettie Rosenstein in New York and last year was the first New York state woman to take the National Award of the Needlecraft Guild.

after they were admitted that they were of "no importance."

Palmer said Miss Coplon had the papers with her for study in connection with a Civil Service Examination—and not for the purpose of giving them to Gubitchev.

One of the papers put in evidence referred to an F.B.I. report on a woman named Ursula Wasserman and said:

"In March, 1946, subject had in her address book the name of Ruth Gruber. Gruber has been reported to have been a contact of F. A. Gararin of the Soviet Embassy, Wash. Gruber was secretary to Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior."

The Interior Department promptly reported that Miss Gruber worked for the department for five years, but never as Ickes' secretary.

Said Miss Gruber, now a freelance writer in New York:

"I never heard of the Coplon girl until her name appeared in the newspapers. I never was a contact person for anyone. My job was not secretary to Mr. Ickes, which might imply I had access to secret papers. I had none."

Ickes elaborated:

"Some fool writes her name on a slip of paper and they try to smear her. If she's a Red, I'm a Hottentot. . . . They'll be smearing me next."

Newkirk Praises Salvation Army; Fund Quota $6,000

The Salvation Army's "Mile of Quarters" campaign to raise $6,000 in Kingston was opened Tuesday night with a dinner for committee chairmen at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, honorary chairman of the drive, told those present of the value of acquainting the public with the work of the Salvation Army.

The mayor said that he, like many others, at one time thought the Salvation Army was an organization which helped people only at Christmas and holiday seasons, but he has since found out that the Army's workers are busy "365 days a year."

"It is greater to give than to receive, and when one is in need the Salvation Army is ready to give every day of the year," Mayor Newkirk said. "If the Salvation Army is sold to the people of Kingston, Chairman Lawrence Quilty and his committee will have no trouble in raising the quota of $6,000."

Quilty, who is chairman of the campaign presided at the meeting, explained the need for funds and the work of the local corps.

Youth activities at the local Salvation Army building during the year 1948 included 295 meetings with attendance of 4,254, he said. Two basketball teams were organized, seven children sent to summer camps, the corps cadets, Junior band, Sunday school, and a daily vacation Bible school were other activities sponsored locally, he said.

Welfare activity of the local corps included the distribution of 1,250 gifts to inmates of prisons, hospitals and sanitariums, garments to 257 persons, shoes to 50 persons, food orders to 163 persons, toys to 165 children, and the distribution of 250 sunshine baskets, Quilty said.

Other activities included such things as aid to prisoners, location of missing persons, and aid to transients.

Other data on the budget and the need for the $6,000 were given by Captain George Gibb, officer in charge of the local corps. Capt. Gibb also distributed and explained the campaign material.

Salvation Army Appeal Opens

The kick-off meeting of this year's Salvation Army appeal to raise $6,000 in the "mile of quarters" campaign, was held Tuesday night at the Stuyvesant Hotel. Leaders of the drive shown in the above photo in the usual order are Howard C. St. John, vice-chairman; Major George E. Anscombe, Yorkers; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, honorary chairman; Lawrence A. Quilty, chairman; Captain George Gibb and Mrs. George Gibb. (Freeman Photo) which has been prepared for general distribution.

The spiritual side of the Salvation Army's work was the subject of a short address by Major George Anscombe of Yorkers, public relations secretary for the Hudson River division. He described the work as "Christianity in action."

Pratt Boice, chairman of the local advisory board, paid tribute to the work of Captain and Mrs. Gibb. He also explained the functions of the advisory board and urged that additional members be secured.

Ray Howe, Jr., sang "The Wifeproof Song" and "When I Have Sung My Song." The dinner was attended by 20 committee chairmen.

Milk Higher in Jersey, Hearing Set June 6

Newark, N. J., June 1 (AP)—New Jersey housewives will take in their home-delivered milk today at 22 cents a quart—a price two cents higher than yesterday.

After two weeks of maneuvering by large milk distributors and state officials, Sheffield Farms—which initiated a three cent per quart price cut May 16—has agreed to jack the price back up two cents. Large and small distributors that followed Sheffield down will follow it up again.

But the milk prices may not stay there.

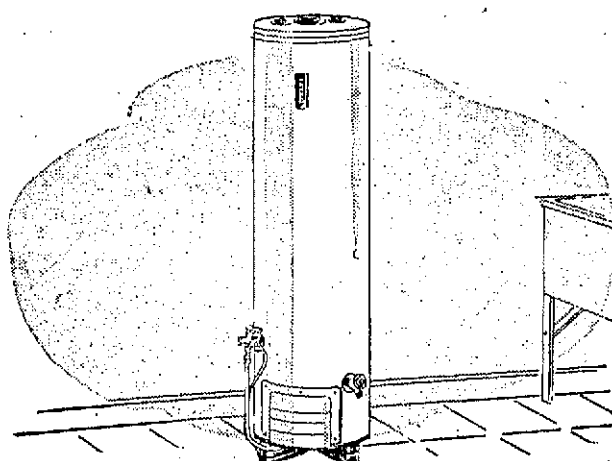

The state milk control board has set a hearing for June 6 which will settle the controversy.

King's Daughters Organize Local Circle At Ponckhockie Congregational Church

Fourteen young women of the Ponckhockie Congregational Church met at the parsonage last week to organize a circle of the King's Daughters. The group adopted the constitution of the international order of the King's Daughters, drew up and ratified their own by-laws for the local group.

Founded in 1886 in New York city by a group of consecrated women representing all denominations, the King's Daughters have grown until there are more than 2400 circles affiliated with the international organization. The object of the order simply stated, and the same as when founded 63 years ago reads: "The development of the spiritual life and the stimulation of Christian activities."

The newly elected officers of the Ponckhockie Circle are Mrs. Frederic E. Williams, president; Mrs. James Lawrence, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph Nerone, second vice president; Mrs. Nelson Lewis, secretary; and Mrs. Henry Filatrault, treasurer.

The new circle voted to meet each second and fourth Thursday evening of each month. The next meeting will be June 9 when those who were unable to attend last week's meeting, and wish to become charter members may so signify.

The circle plans to conduct the worship service at the church some Sunday evening soon. At that time the history of the order will be given, admission service and installation of officers will be held.

At the close of the worship and business meeting last week, a social hour was held with Mrs. Nerone and Mrs. Isaac Jones.

School Buses

Q. What courtesy should drivers display when encountering stopped school bus?

A. While not all state laws require a full stop upon coming to a halted school bus, common sense and courtesy demand it. A cautious driver will not proceed until he has determined that it is absolutely safe and proper to do so. The offensive driver who sneaks by stopped school buses because no policemen are around has a slight resemblance to a naughty child misbehaving when watched. What he really is exhibiting is barbaric behavior that can well cause casualties to innocent people.

Kingston High Nips Saugerties High, 8 to 7, for First Baseball Victory

Kuhn Is Winner; Burkemen Blast Lefty Giammarino

The boxscore below is an historic document. It represents Kingston High's first official baseball victory of the season.

The harassed Maroons turned on an old tormentor, Lefty Ralph Giammarino of Saugerties, yesterday at the municipal stadium and carved out an 8 to 7 triumph.

Two previous wins had been registered in unofficial "practice" games.

A week ago, Giammarino had subjected the Burkemen to a one-hit setback—a home run by Bud Scheffel—but yesterday was another day.

Ronnie Scheffel led off with a single, Jim Rich, sacrificed and then boom—two successive bingles by Bud Scheffel, Mike Rlenzo, Joe Norton, Moll Leonard rattled across the diamond. Havens fanned and Rod Whitaker, batting her of the day, bashed another safety. Five runs cluttered across the plate.

Kuhn Is Winner

Adolf Kuhn, who prefers to be called Bert, yielded three Saugerties tallies in the third, but the Maroons equalized with another trio in the fourth when Rod Whitaker led off with a home run to deep right field, Ronnie Scheffel and Sawyers came up with three miscues.

Saugerties scored twice in the fifth and sixth frames but Kuhn breezed through the seventh stanza to nail down the decision.

Whitaker was the batting star for Kingston with a single, double and homer. Ronnie Scheffel collected two hits in four trips, while Keefe and M. J. Whitaker hit safely twice each for Saugerties.

Kingston plays in Newburgh on Friday.

Score 11 Runs In Third Inning

Ed McCormick gave Stauble's Bakery another precision pitching performance yesterday, a brilliant four-hit stint that engulfed 'Puck' or Davis' Colonial Merchants, 13 to 2.

It was the Bakers' second win in three starts, while the Merchants dipped below the .500 mark with one and two.

The Merchants tried to get by with Ed Rybinacker, a rubber armed twirler who has been pitching every day on the day, but it didn't work.

The Bakers raked the tired Rybinacker for 11 safeties, including four doubles and McCormick's triple and seven Merchants miscues eased their path.

The winners set a season record by chasing 11 runs across the plate in the third inning after the Merchants had gained a 2-0 lead in the first.

Principal factors in the marathon stanza included three walks, two batters by Lang and W. Jackson, singles by Brown, McCormick, Felipe and Decker, plus the inevitable bobbles—in this case three of them.

Rybinacker picked up two of the four safeties off McCormick who fanned seven. L. Felipe, Bill Olen, A. Decker and E. McCormick connected safely twice for the winners.

Frank's Sport Shop meets Boulevard Gulf today, with Big Jack Watzka going against Duke Secreto.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

Carl Furillo, the fellow Leo Durocher said couldn't hit right-handers, is making his old boss eat his words.

The Brooklyn right fielder hit a 14th-inning home run off right-hander Larry Jansen in the wee small hours this morning to win the "big game" of the young season for the crushing Dodgers.

Furillo's second homer of the year, both off Jansen, enabled the Brooks to shade Leo's New York Giants, 6-4, in a 3 hour-57 minute marathon at the Polo Grounds.

Tie With Braves

As a result of the homer and a spectacular job of no-hit, no-run relief pitching by rookie Jack Banta, the Dodgers enter June in a two-way tie with the Boston Braves for the National League lead. The Giants, who were partners in a triple tie yesterday morning, now are third.

It was a toughie for Jansen who opposed four different Dodger pitchers during the long evening. He blew an early 3-0 lead and another 4-3 advantage. Then in the 14th he dished up the homer to Furillo. A triple by Roy Campanella sent the tiring Giant ace to the showers. Dave Koslo yielded the extra score on Banta's single, his first hit of the season.

Banta's top drawer bullpen job was his second victory within a week since Manager Barney Shotton shifted him to freeman duty. Only two men reached base against the lean right-hander. One walked and the other was hit by a pitched ball. Both were erased on double plays.

Robinson On Strike

Jackie Robinson, always an important part of every Dodger victory, didn't figure in the headlines of this one although he clicked for three hits. But he made a fine "winning" catch of Johnny Mize's foul fly against the right field wall that helped Robinson always plays deep in a wide shift to right against the long ball-hitting Mize.

As a result of the night's efforts, Robinson boosted his average to .360. He has been going at a terrific clip for the past week. Over that stretch he has hit .563 on 18 hits in 32 at bats, hotter than anybody in the majors.

Jansen was three outs from victory starting the ninth. Gil Hodges opened with a home run. Then they went into their long overtime duel that made it 58 innings for the Giants in the last three days.

The big crowd of 43,922 best of the Polo Grounds night season, knew they were watching a battle for first place. The final of Boston's 7-6 afternoon victory over the Phillies was posted on the scoreboard.

Braves Rally

Boston had to come from way back to take that one. Trailing 5-0 going into the fourth inning, the Braves finally pulled it out when Jim Konstanty walked Clint Conatser with the bases full in the ninth.

The Phils hung up a big five in the third, routing Johnny Sain. Doubles by Eddie Miller, Schoolboy Rowe, Ed Waitkus and Andy Seminick were the big blows. Seminick added the final score with a homer in the sixth.

Neils Potter, with two shutout relief innings, earned his fourth victory at Fenway expense.

Rowe hit Eddie Stanky to start the ninth. After he was sacrificed to second, Marv Rickert walked. Konstanty replaced Rowe and retired Bob Elliott. Then he walked Jim Russell and Conatser to force in the winning run.

Other major league teams were not scheduled, awaiting today's heavy program of inter-sectional contests.

Lynch Is Captain

New Haven, Conn., June 1. (P)—Charles A. Lynch, class of '50, of Bronxville, N. Y., last night was elected captain of next year's Yale tennis team. Lynch was co-captain of tennis at the Hill School. He was number one man on the Yale freshman squad three years ago, and has two years of varsity play to his credit.

Gun Club Meeting

Colonials Lose, 7 to 4, To Bristol's Cauvel

Clubs End Series Here Tonight

Kingston hasn't beaten Bristol's Larry Cauvel since he came into the Colonial League and his mastery over the locals was still evident last night as he chalked up a 7 to 4 victory, although he was touched up for 11 hits.

The loss dropped Kingston deeper into the Colonial League cellar behind the Waterbury Timbers who trounced the Poughkeepsie Chiefs, 6 to 2. The clubs meet again tonight at municipal stadium at 8:30.

White Is Loser
Art White was tagged for the loss last night before some 250 fans, yielding four runs in six innings before he was relieved by Hamilton Graham in the seventh. Bristol picked up three runs in a hurry off the rookie southpaw. Graham fanned Cauvel after passing Rutkay and Lapides, but uncorked a wild pitch advancing both runners. Bernier drilled a single to left for two runs and counted later on Kelly's poke into center.

Kingston had Cauvel on the ropes in the eighth but Ralph Matzer jammed into a fast double play in Rutkay and Kelly. It was a hard hit ball straight at the shortstop.

Granato Triples
Elko dropped a humpbacked liner into center and scored on Frank Granato's triple to center. A lousy smash that bounced off the transformer pole into deep center. Bristol's bullpen went into feverish activity when Cauvel walked Gil Nirlich on a 3-2 pitch. Then came the double play on which Granato scored the final Colonial tally. Perlmutter popped up to end the threat.

Manager Laviano shifted "Digger" O'Neil back to left field and had Gerald Murray at third base. "Digger" appeared second in the batting order.

Murray, Elko, Granato and Matzer each hit safely twice for Kingston. Bernier, the septa speed demon, O'Connell and Rutkay had two hits for the Owls. Rutkay, a brilliant shortstop, had an unusually bad night with three miscues in six chances.

Andersons Win Opener From Turks In Wiltwyck Golf Tournament, 21-15

The Terrible Turks found the able Andersons too tough to handle in the first meeting of the feuding golf clubs at Wiltwyck Golf Club on Sunday and went down to defeat, 15 to 21. A return match is scheduled later in the season, after the Turks have had more time for practice.

The George Schick-Clayton Smith, Al Heisman-Rube Leventhal and Frank Stone-Ted Young tandems scored three point sweeps for the winners. Ernie LeFevre-Harry Wieber and Maurice Davenport-Irv Handler felled their opponents in similar style for the Turks.

The Results:
George Schick-Clayton Smith, A, defeated Harry Henion-Dr. Falvey, T, 3 to 0.
Ernie LeFevre-Harry Wieber, T, defeated Dr. C. Van Gansbeek-Harry Green, A, 3 to 0.

Maurice Davenport-Irv Handler, T, defeated J. Watson Bailey-George Selsky, 3 to 0.
J. Anderson-Stan Winne, A, defeated Arthur Davis, Sr.-Charles Turk, 2 1/2 to 1 1/2.

Ray LeFevre-Art Jansen, A, defeated Jim Winters-D. H. Smith, T, 2 1/2 to 1 1/2.

Lou Alon-Meyer Levy, T, defeated Lou Schwartz-Al Newman, A, 2 to 1.

Stan Hankinson-Al Hutton, A, defeated Charles E. Burnett-Adison Schuler, T, 2 to 1.

Art Organtini-W. Schaffrich, T, defeated George Hiltnerby-Iko Trowbridge, A, 2 to 1.

SneadCops PGA Title

Richmond, Va., June 1 (AP)—Samuel Jackson Snead—at 37—is king of America's professional golfers today.

The slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., earned that distinction yesterday when he came from behind to defeat Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., 3 and 2, for the 1949 championship of the Professional Golfers Association.

Snead's brilliant victory over Palmer distinguished him as the first golfer to win the Masters tournament and the P.G.A. crowns in one year. Since he began using a borrowed putter (the word's reveal where he got it), Snead has won three in a row—the Greensboro Open, the Masters and now the P.G.A.

Snead moved around the 6,677 yard Hermitage Country Club course yesterday in six-under-par to best Palmer. In the morning round, Snead carved a 69 for the par 71 layout. They were all even when Sam and Johnny wound up activities for the lunchtime intermission.

The match was all Snead in the afternoon. They halved the first three holes before Snead pulled ahead on the fourth with a birdie two on the par three twenty-second. The match was never even again.

Folks said if Snead could putt like he can drive, he'd win tournaments. Since he began using a borrowed putter (the word's reveal where he got it), Snead has won three in a row—the Greensboro Open, the Masters and now the P.G.A.

Late Bulletin

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Tonight's baseball game here between Poughkeepsie and Waterbury in the Class B Colonial League may be the last for the Poughkeepsie Chiefs.

John J. Gartland, president of the Poughkeepsie Recreation Commission, said efforts to keep the Chiefs' franchise in Poughkeepsie had failed.

Louis Baselle of New York, president of the club attempted without success to sell the franchise to a Poughkeepsie group. Negotiations also are under way to transfer the franchise elsewhere.

Baselle, who blamed poor attendance, indicated earlier that if he was unable to dispose of the franchise he would sell the players individually and rejoin the franchise to the league.

Nations Are . . .
Chikow, a town near Fengtwa when he retired from the presidency of Nationalist China. (He is believed to be in Pohnosa now.)

Another pro-Nationalist newspaper, Wah Eui Daily, in a dispatch from Canton said the Red threat to south China had been "eliminated" by the withdrawal of two Communist armies from the Wuhan area.

Vah Eui said one army of 12,000 Chinese was being rushed back to Manchuria by rail where an unknown number of troops had revolted against the Reds.

The other army, the newspaper said, was being rushed to Hunan province, where Chinese of more than 20 counties were reported forming an anti-Communist defense corps.

These reported Communist movements do not seem to ally with other Canton dispatches. These indicated the presence of the south China base of Chanchow and Chuchow was being increased.

sort of arrangement on trade to preclude any more blockade.

The Russians, it was reported, are eager to obtain some economic agreement to provide their zone with manufactured goods from western Germany, thus easing conditions in the Soviet zone.

The Russian zone was hurt by the allied counter-blockade.

The western powers were reported ready to propose the establishment of specialized four-power committees to regulate commerce, currency, communications and transit between Berlin and the western zones—a pattern for extension between all east and west Germany.

Germans would be designated from west Germany and from the east German People's Congress regime to "carry out the plans. They would form an economic council for the whole of Germany.

Held for Smuggling
New York, June 1 (AP)—A Brooklyn housewife was held in $3,000 bail today on a charge of smuggling after customs inspectors allegedly found 106.22 carats of cut diamonds in her luggage.

The woman, Mrs. Lillian Heich, 39, of 928 48th street, Brooklyn, waived examination before U. S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein. She was held for action of the federal grand jury. Assistant U. S. Attorney M. J. Meckler, who had asked $5,000 bail, told Commissioner Epstein that Mrs. Heich arrived at New York International Airport yesterday from Amsterdam after visiting Israel and Europe.

Would Annul Marriage
Hollywood, June 1 (AP)—Margaret O'Brien's mother wants to annul her three-month-old marriage to Orchestra Leader Don Sylvio but insists that the child star had nothing to do with the decision. However, Mrs. Sylvio added last night that Margaret is very happy now, she told the press. Margaret, who has been suspended from her $3,000 a week job at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer since shortly after the wedding, has made no secret of her dislike for her mother's marriage. Margaret stood weeping with fists clenched during the wedding rites last February 22 in a Palm Beach hotel suite.

Brush Fire Reported
Firemen were called shortly after noon today to check a brush fire in the area of Flatbush avenue and the East Chester street by-pass.

Certificates Filed

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

A FASHION LIMITED TO THE FEW

A subject that gives me no little embarrassment is brought up in the following letter: "In your book you state that a man's wedding ring should be worn on his little finger. As a prospective bridegroom I am puzzled by this advice because it conflicts with all other evidence I have encountered. The jeweler here insists that in 40 years of business he has yet to fit a man's wedding ring to other than the ring finger of the left hand, same as the bride's. No doubt there is some simple explanation of this contradiction and I wish you'd straighten me out."

At the time I gave that advice in my book comparatively few American men (especially on the Atlantic Coast) wore wedding rings at all, and those noted for good taste among these wore them on their little fingers. In recent years, particularly since the last war, countless numbers of men are wearing wedding rings and, following the European custom, are showing a preference for the third finger, which has always been perfectly correct, but not ultra-fashionable.

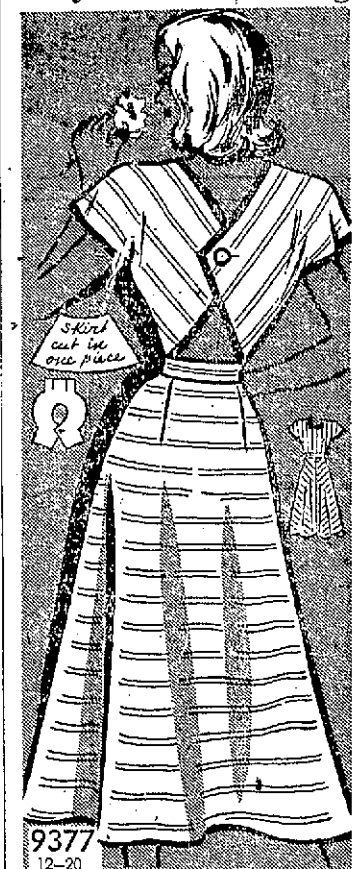

"Mrs., Cannot Be Miss"
Dear Mrs. Post: I am in the process of getting a divorce and have applied for use of my maiden name. Someone tells me that it is wrong for me to use my maiden name unless I prefix it with Mrs. But since no one knows me as Mrs. Jane Blank it seems to me that would only confuse the issue. Is it true that even though the court grants me permission it would not be right to call myself Miss Jane Blank—which I formerly was?

Answer: If Miss Jane Blank is the name by which you are known in business this would make its use in business entirely proper. In social life, however "Miss" before the name of a woman who has been married, cannot fail to cause criticism. The proper term for a divorcee is her own surname prefixed to that of her ex-husband. If she was Mary Jones and her husband John Smith she calls herself Mrs. Jones Smith.

Use of Esquire
Dear Mrs. Post: Is the degree M.D. correctly added to a physician's name when the envelope is addressed to him as John R. Doe, Esq.? I claim not and a friend says it is suitable inasmuch as the degree is not a substitute for a title.

Answer: To add "Esq." to either

Mothers' Blood Stops Rheumatoid Arthritis Pains

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, June 1 (AP)—The blood of mothers who have just had babies has stopped rheumatoid arthritis, cruelest of all forms of rheumatism.

This was reported to the seventh International Congress on Rheumatic Diseases here today by Dr. L. W. Graniter, of New York.

The relief, he said, was temporary but lasted sometimes from three to twelve weeks. Stiffened joints eased, pain and swellings went down. All patients gained weight. Best results were on people for whom gold salts had failed. Gold is one of the numerous treatments for rheumatoid arthritis.

The cause of this form of rheumatism is unknown, but a Mayo clinic report yesterday there was a possible explanation for the effectiveness of mother's blood.

The Mayo doctors and five other American medical centers have treated 20 patients with this form of arthritis, using a newly discovered hormone from the adrenal glands, which are in the small of the human back. They and the others said the results were surprising. Everyone got better.

Like those on mother's blood they got better only temporarily, although one woman has been practically well for four months.

Dr. Mayo and mother's blood work together because during pregnancy women produce more hormones. At the Mayo Clinic one reason for trying the hormone was the known good effects of mother's blood. Blood carries all the hormones the body makes.

The new hormone is called Compound E, a discovery of Dr. Edward G. Kendall of the Mayo Clinic.

In the entire world, the Mayo men said, there is now only enough of this hormone to treat 20 human beings. Merck & Company, Rahway, N. J., manufactures it, and hope by next year to have enough to treat some thousands. The making is partly synthetic, including 30 chemical steps, and at present quantity production is not possible.

PORT EVEN

Port Even, June 1—Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Griswold of Dansville called on Mrs. George Sheeley at her home on Bayard street Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Wernke and Mrs. John Wernke of Secaucus, N. J., were the holiday guests of Mrs. Helen Myraz at her home on Broadway.

The last meeting of the Port Even School Association was held at School 13 May 25. Mrs. Frank Dailey, president, presided. Plans were made for the annual school picnic to be held Thursday, June 9, at Porsyth Park, Kingston. Buses will take the children to the park and back to the village. A planned pot-luck dinner will be served at noon. The president appointed the following nominating committee: Mrs. Walter Carney, Mrs. William Barker and Mrs. David Harris. The report award for having the most parents present went to Room 1, Mrs. Hudson Cole, teacher. Mrs. David Cunningham showed colored films of the school children which had been taken on the school grounds. Pictures loaned by William Rogers were shown depicting the various seasons of the year. Some of the photos included local scenes. Refreshments were served by the committee. A social hour followed.

The Port Even Fire Company will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the fire house.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Remy, who were the week-end guests at the home of Mrs. Helen Myraz in Union City, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Seibert and son, Billy, of Hudson, spent the week-end with Mr. Seibert's mother, Mrs. William Seibert, and sister, Miss Bertha Seibert.

The junior choir of the Reformed Church will meet tonight at 6:30 o'clock. The senior choir will rehearse Thursday at 6:45 p. m.

night, Sacred Heart devotions at 7:30 followed by benediction of the most blessed sacrament. Confessions Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p. m.

The junior choir of the Methodist Church will meet Thursday at 6:30 p. m. The senior choir will meet at 7:30 p. m.

Brownie Troop 44 will meet at the Methodist Church house Friday at 3:20 p. m. Mrs. Robert J. Torrens will be the leader. Mrs. Vincent Secor is the assistant leader.

Martin Pays $50

Joseph Martin of Krumville was arrested by Sergeant A. A. Reilly and Trooper Heywood Rasmussen Tuesday on a charge of petit larceny arising out of the entering of a summer camp. Taken before Justice Lester Davis of West Shokan, Martin entered a plea of guilty to the charge and a $50 fine was imposed and paid. A six months jail sentence also imposed was suspended.

Gambler's Linked To Reuther Case

Detroit, June 1 (AP)—Seeking clues in the Victor Reuther shooting, authorities today engaged in one of the most sweeping mopups of the criminal element in Detroit's history.

Police headquarters reported that virtually every bluecoat and detective in Detroit's 4,000-man law enforcement force was ordered into action.

The sudden order was issued in midafternoon yesterday. Last night 130 men were in jail after quick raids on gambling and hoodlum hangouts.

One theory in the investigation is that gambling interests conspired against the lives of both Victor Reuther and his brother Walter.

A gunman shot Victor through a window of his home the night of May 24. Walter was shot similarly the night of April 20 last year. Walter, president of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers, and Victor, the union's educational director, both have energetically opposed gambling in auto plants.

At one time the numbers and policy rackets were said to have flourished in the factories. Race track bookies also were active along with lotteries.

Police Commissioner Harry S. Toyle said he had an underworld tip that the 24-day Ford strike, with 65,000 men absent from Detroit plants, had cost a gambling syndicate $250,000.

W.C.T.U. Holds Annual Meeting

The annual institute of the Ulster County Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held recently in the Methodist Church at Milton. During the day the county union observed the 75th jubilee anniversary of the national organization. Mrs. Aurelia Burdge of New Jersey, national director of the department of pageantry and drama, was the guest speaker. Also present was Mrs. Helen Estelle, president of the New York State W.C.T.U.
Methods of interesting people in the work of the W.C.T.U., as well as educating young people in the temperance movement were among the chief topics of the institute. Mrs. Burdge advocated well-planned programs, worthwhile devotions and "snappy" business periods for meetings. Older members may keep in contact with the work by making scrapbooks, afghans and puzzles for hospitals.
Mrs. Burdge advised speech, poster contests and exhibits to interest the youth of the communities. The Ellenville unit reported a speaker ready to compete in other counties.
For educational projects, the state union through its local units contributes a "mile of quakers." Some of the money from this fund is used for instructional slides and movies.
In comparison with the educational projects especially for youth, Mrs. Burdge noted the glamorous advertising used to entice people to drink.
"The W.C.T.U. is needed to stand by when alcoholism has become the fourth major health problem," she said, and particularly urged more activity in the Local Temperance Legion and Youth Temperance Council and pleaded that the W.C.T.U. send young people to the encampments provided for you in these groups.
Through her work in the national organization, Mrs. Burdge is preparing a pageant for the Jubilee Year National Convention to be held in Philadelphia in August. It portrays the enthusiasm of the early temperance workers and Crusader women.

Reports on membership were given. Mrs. Earl Porter, corresponding secretary, noted that those joining during the Jubilee year would be known as Jubilee members. She spoke of ways of gaining new members and reminded the group that men could join as honorary members. Several units reported new members inspired to join following the talk by Bishop Hammaker at the county temperance rally in Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, this city, April 24.
During the box lunch hour a 75th year birthday cake, provided by the first union, was cut by Mrs. Estelle, state president. Mrs. J. M. Woven, president of the Milton union, welcomed those attending.
Mrs. George Shultis, president, presided. Mrs. E. Young led the morning devotions.
Following lunch the executive session confirmed the appointment of Mrs. Emma Carpenter as county treasurer.
Afternoon opening devotions were led by the Rev. Oscar J. Jelsma in the absence of the Rev. Hugh Mc Nelly, pastor of the church. He would have the W.C.T.U. see its task in the modern age when basic convictions of faith must be rebuilt. Mrs. William Lais sang as solo. The Hilltop. Mrs. Lais also was song leader for the institute and Mrs. Kent was organist. By special request Miss Nellie Nowkirk of Ellenville Union recited a temperance alphabet.
Resolutions were offered on the death of Mrs. James Swift, former county treasurer.

Food Handlers' Strike Postponed for Talks

New York, June 1 (UPI)—A strike of 3,000 employees of the 75 food warehouses in New York city and New Jersey, which had been scheduled for today, was postponed at dawn pending further labor-management negotiations.
After an all-night session with mediators, representatives of two major warehouse employer groups and Locals 617 and 818 of the A.F.L. International Brotherhood of Teamsters agreed to resume wage talks late today.
The employers are represented by the Cold Storage Warehouse Association of the Port of New York and the Inland Dry Warehouse Association of the Port of New York. The union men are inside workers.
The dispute has threatened to shut the warehouses and halt distribution of an estimated $100,000,000 worth of food, including meat, butter, eggs, poultry, fish and canned goods. The warehouses handle some other items in addition to food.

Says Threat Was Made
Los Angeles, June 1 (UPI)—John D. Spreckels III, the sugar heir, has been sued for $50,000 by Mrs. Jeannette Marshall, a writer, who accuses him of beating and threatening to kill her. Mrs. Marshall, 35-year-old divorcee, said that at a party celebrating her birthday, Spreckels hit her without warning and pulled her hair. Spreckels denied it. The complaint, filed yesterday, also alleges Spreckels, 37, pulled a gun on her and threatened to shoot. Spreckels was divorced a year ago by his third wife, Lou Dell, who accused him of hitting her with a poker.

Bullard Car Hits Damages 3 Autos

Saturday evening a car, operated by Marion Bullard of Woodstock struck three cars near the Irvington Hotel, doing damage to the cars. Two of the owners were taken to town hall later by State Trooper Ray Dunn who had been summoned but both declined to lodge a charge, alleging they wanted only to be paid for the damage to their cars. As a result no charge was lodged before Justice George Braendly.
Trooper Dunn said the three cars were owned by Harry Krus of Woodstock, Benjamin C. Smith of Long Island City and Jo Freeman of New York. Both Smith and Freeman went to the town hall with Trooper Dunn but after discussing the accident they declined to make a reckless driving charge.
At the time of the accident the Bullard car was being operated west toward Village Square and the accident happened near Irvington Inn.
Trooper Dunn said Mrs. Bullard told him after she struck the first car, she attempted to avoid the other cars but became excited in the heavy traffic when she found her car did not respond to the steering wheel and the other two cars were hit.
Trooper Dunn said he examined the operator's license of Mrs. Bullard on arrival at the scene and talked with the operators of all three cars which had been sideswiped. Kraus, Trooper Dunn said, did not go to town hall and declined to prefer any charge at the scene.

Authorities Make Move To Break Up Farbens

Frankfurt, Germany, June 1 (UPI)—American and British authorities have begun steps to break up the sprawling I. G. Farben industrial empire. A major unit of the great chemical trust will be put up for sale soon.
Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, deputy U. S. military governor, said last night the British, American and German have agreed upon procedure.
Hays said Farben stockholders will be invited to sit in on consultations before the sale which will not be arranged for five or six weeks.
French military government representatives also will be asked to study procedures. Some Farben property is located in the French zone, but the French are not a party to the pending sale, Hays said, because the French zone never merged economically with the others.

There's no better way to make up a room and make it appear larger than by using mirrors—Pittsburgh Plate Glass Mirrors. Crown the fireplace with a big Venetian-type mirror and you reflect the beauty of the entire room. Place one over the sofa and you have a charming spot that is the focal point of the room. Mirrors can be used in scores of places to add color, sparkle and spaciousness to your home. We'll provide them quickly tailor-made to your order.
